William Clarke College Solomon Islands Mission and Service Trip 2017 Report

For two weeks in June and July, I had the privilege of going to the Solomon Islands on my school's annual Mission and Service Trip. My school has had a continuing relationship with the people in the Solomon Islands, and particularly with schools from the Western Province and from the capital Honiara after a devastating tsunami in 2007. The group consisted of 21 students from primarily Year 11, with two Year 10s and 5 staff.

We visited Honiara for four days, where we heard from various organisations who help the people of the Solomon's with the various issues that the country faces including youth unemployment, illiteracy, inaccessibility for people with disabilities, domestic violence and lack of women's rights. We also visited the two schools where our Solomon's students come from, St Nicholas College and Chung Wa School. These are the schools where my friends came from and it was interesting to see where they went to primary school and comparing it to our school, where we have so many resources compared to the schools there. On our final night in Honiara we had a dinner with the parents of the Solomon's students, which was an amazing experience. I also got to meet my friend's parents which was amazing and a highlight for a lot of people in our group. We had the dinner at Government House (one of the students in my grade is the son of the Governor-General) which was another great experience!

After Honiara we left for the Western Province, specifically Munda, where we visited some schools where we played games with the students and gave them resources that we had taken over such as stationery, exercise books, reading books and sport equipment. We also went to a village on the first Sunday where we went to an Anglican church. The Solomon Islands is a Christian country with the predominant denomination being Anglican. It was a fascinating experience for the whole group to experience a more traditional church service with a lot of habitual singing and prayers with no musical instruments!

After Munda we went on a 10-minute flight to Gizo, the capital of the Western Province, where we left our big bags behind and went on a one-and-a-half-hour boat ride to a village called Varese where we stayed for two nights. We slept on very thin mattresses under mosquito nets in classrooms. It was a highlight for most of the group and was a time where I think we bonded as a group the most. We also went to the nearby village of Malasova while staying at Varese.

After staying at Varese, we went on the roughest boat ride I had ever been on back to Gizo where we stayed for the remaining six days. While at Gizo we visited more schools, went to another church, went to the markets and shops across the road (a lot!) and went to Kennedy Island for a 'day off'. Gizo was my favourite place throughout the whole trip, visiting the markets every day and having a lot of free time while we were there was really nice after constantly moving for the last week.

Overall, the Solomon Islands trip was an experience I will never forget. I've made new friends within the group and have experienced a culture which is so vastly different from ours. It's hard to describe how amazing the people are over there, not just in their kind words and hospitality, but also their Christian faith. I would be happy to go back to the Solomons, I loved the trip and I'm sure many of the other group members would say the same thing.

MISSION CLUSTER UPDATE

Since February this year we've been having some conversations with the corps in our cluster, Parramatta, Auburn, Ryde and Granville, to think creatively about how we can be more effective as an Army by working as one. The Division has given us some direction as to the final shape this might take, but in the main it is up to us to work out the nuts and bolts of this Hope Rising strategy (see attached file). Granville's amalgamation with us is part of that process. We are seeking to be as inclusive as possible and have asked the Divisional team to consider both a meeting with all four corps' leadership teams and ultimately the attendees from all four corps in the next few months. We believe that if we are gospel focused, creative, discerning, and open to the Spirit's leading we can end up with a fantastic new model for being the Salvation Army here in Western Sydney. Our new building will be an integral part of that solution.
