Course Overview

This unit equips workers with the knowledge and practical skills to identify and respond to clients experiencing domestic and family violence, including situations requiring immediate intervention and support.

This unit applies to health, community services, financial counselling, and capability workers who may encounter family violence in their roles but are not specialist family violence practitioners.

Trainers and Assessors

Maria Turnbull (OAM) is a Financial Counsellor of high standing with over 16 years of experience in working with people affected by addictions, specifically gambling as well as alcohol and other drugs.

Maria has chaired the Financial & Consumer Rights Council (FCRC) for three years and was on the FCRC Board for six years. She chaired the Gambling Issues Working Group for six years.

Maria is an unrelenting advocate for our community members, a person of great skill, qualifications, expertise and experience. Most of all she cares greatly about what she does and has a strong desire and commitment to improve the lot of people suffering financial hardship.

Course Structure

This unit is a nationally recognised qualification which requires the successful completion of one unit over a three-month period.

- CHCDFV001 Recognise and respond appropriately to domestic and family violence

By the end of the course, you will be equipped with the knowledge and skills to:

- Adopt work practices that support interactions with those affected by domestic and family violence
- Identify client needs
- Respond to client needs

Key topics covered:

- Values and philosophies underpinning domestic violence work
- Worker and client safety planning
- Rights and responsibilities in client interactions
- Cultural, family, and individual considerations
- Identifying complexity, urgency, and eligibility for services
- Responding to risk and threats to safety

Upon successful completion of all assessment tasks, and being deemed competent in the unit, you will be awarded a Statement of Attainment.

Competency-based training

Competency is the consistent application of knowledge and skill to the standard of performance required in the workplace. As this is a competency-based course, the assessments will involve the demonstration of skill, knowledge and the ability to work consistently to the standards required. The assessment tasks may include questions, case studies, third party feedback or workplace projects

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)

If you believe you have the skills and knowledge in some or all of the units, or you already hold a similar qualification and are looking to upgrade, then you may wish to consider Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL). Recognition for units may be granted based on previous learning, studies, work and/or life experiences. You may apply for RPL once you have enrolled in the course. Students are encouraged to apply for RPL within their first 12 weeks of enrolment. Please note, RPL is charged at the same rate as the course fee as it is still a form of assessment. Please discuss this with the Course Coordinator when you enrol.

Entry Requirements

There are no entry requirements for this qualification.

Residential Status

This course is open to Australian residents. Unfortunately, we are not registered to accept international students. The eligibility of students will be confirmed during enrolment.

IT Requirements

Students will require access to a computer and the internet to allow them to study using our online learning portal, Booth Online. To participate and engage in any online courses and tutorials, it is recommended students are competent in using a computer and have:

- a laptop or desktop computer (PC or Mac) with at least 2GB of RAM.
- a stable internet connection (ADSL2 equivalent or higher)
- a USB microphone headset or iPhone headset with built-in microphone.
- a current version of a modern web browser (Chrome, Firefox or Safari).
- Microsoft Office Suite installed on your computer. MS Word is required for most of the assessment tasks.
